PROJECTS

Plana (Ruby on Rails, React/Redux, PostgreSQL, Heroku, CSS3, HTML5)   Live Site | Github
An Asana clone that allows users to keep track of their projects and organize tasks into various lists.
- Configured RESTful API using Ruby on Rails to expose routes for multiple CRUD operations for use by the frontend application via Redux thunk actions.
- Maintained task sequence in linked lists for performant and scalable reordering of tasks resulting in a quicker response time to user interface (UI) and an overall smoother user experience (UX).
- Developed custom form validation working in tandem with a reusable modal component for DRY, modular code, allowing for future scaling and easy implementation of additional forms.

FishyDex (Mongoose, MongoDB, Express.js, React/Redux, Node.js, CSS3, HTML5, JavaScript)   Live Site | Github
Crowd-sourced fishing app where users can take advantage of the hive mind to find the best fishing spots.
- Incorporated AWS S3 alongside MongoDB and Express that allows users to post pictures which are reflected on different types of modules using associations.
- Utilized Google Maps API and React to create an user interactive map with different piers and fishing spots that links to their respective informational pages.
- Dynamically structured react code and modules to be able to efficiently create/destroy url links through wildcards for each specific fish.
- Effectively utilized Git conventions for version control between team members throughout the development and deployment cycle.
